Welch, Francis X., In the Nation's Capital: Senate confirmation of FCC commissioner Frieda B. Hennock came as surprise to Washington observers; Investigation of FCC by special house committee; 80th Congress less anti-utility than those in more recent years, July 3, p. 17 . . . Republican platform contains plank calling for expansion of privately operated communications systems; Industry and government officials confused over "mandatory allocation" provision of Selective Service Act, July 10, p. 13 . . . Forthcoming election will afford businessmen of both Republican and Democratic parties opportunity to stop and to reverse the anti-business, anti-free enterprise trend which was set in motion during the past two decades, July 17, p. 13 . . . Wisdom of President Truman in calling special session of Congress questioned; Warning given to telephone industry to watch possible effort to overhaul REA Act to include financing, telephone service, July 24, p. 15 . . . Judicial decisions show swing away from the "commission-can-do-no-wrong" theory of regulation; Georgia and New York courts reverse respective state commissions; FPC solves natural gas supply snarl within framework of contractual obligations, July 31, p. 21.
Indiscriminate radio-telephone operation likened to era of unregulated jitney bus; House committee organizes work for FCC probe; Request for inclusion of listening-in devices in recording tariff regulations denied; Impact of television upon future political conventions discussed, Aug. 7, p. 19; Passage of excess profits tax law would work hardship on telephone and other utilities; Coining of seven-cent coin might not be desirable in telephone industry, Aug. 14, p. 20 . . . Inflationary spiral, sending the purchasing value of the dollar down, brings about the need for re-examination of the original cost theory of rate base determination followed by many regulatory commissions, Aug. 21, p. 17 . . . Statements of two state commissioners—Maltbie of New York and Marshall of Michigan—concerning the need of utilities for increased income to meet inflationary costs commended; Beirne's suggestion that commissions extend jurisdiction to consider wages paid to telephone workers questioned, Aug. 28, p. 21.
Congressional select committee, appointed to investigate Federal Communications Commission, challenges commission's authority in issuing three rulings; FCC announces rules to govern use of individual radio-telephone for personal and private communication, Sept. 4, p. 25 . . . Officials of telephone and telegraph industries meet with National Security and Resources Board to discuss national defense plan for communications in case of emergency; Loose accounting of federal government bureaus deplored, Sept. 11, p. 19 . . . Utilities face increased pressure from municipalities for imposition of local taxes; War emergency developments proceeding quietly in Washington; Of concern to all utility industries as possible controls will affect them greatly, Sept. 18, p. 17.
AT&T license contract fee to Bell associated companies reduced; Bell official discusses effect of inflation on telephone company earnings; House committee report on FCC unfair, Mr. Welch thinks, Oct. 2, p. 20 . . . Welch makes forecast on presidential election; Predicts Dewey will win with 350 to 370 electoral votes; Campaign oratory of both New York governor and Truman analyzed, Oct. 9, p. 13 . . . Report of Hoover Commission likely to recommend reduction of Federal agencies from 26 to 10; Philadelphia U. S. District Court throws out attempt by Philco Corp. to compel AT&T to continue furnishing television broadcast relays; Committee for Economic Development shows number of small businesses in country today as large as at any time in history, Oct. 16, p. 18 . . . Higher rate of return for utilities in order for them to attract equity capital to expand plants is urgent need; Walter J. Herrman's study on utility earning requirements reviewed, Oct. 23, p. 93 . . . Need for regulatory commissions to recognize the decreased purchasing power of the dollar in allowing adequate rates to cover increased operating costs, and to yield a rate of return sufficient to attract equity capital, is paramount today, Oct. 30, p. 17.
Dewey's statements on saturation of rural telephone service analyzed; Arguments for reduction or elimination of telephone excise taxes presented; Industry urged to present current rural service picture and to go all out against excise taxes, Nov. 6, p. 22 . . . Welch wants to trade his crystal ball; Possible legislation and federal policy under Truman administration reviewed; Sees some over-all political advantages in recent election, Nov. 13, p. 17 . . . Taft-Hartley Act unlikely to be repealed in entirety; "Closed shop" provision probably to go, however; New Jersey commission establishes precedent by permitting telephone workers union to act as intervenor in Bell rate case, Nov. 20, p. 17 . . . Telephone business comes in for good share of attention at NARUC convention; Several points of interest to industry covered by Mr. Welch, Nov. 27, p. 21.
Administration's hatchet men start out on anti-business campaign; Advises business men to conduct energetic program of supporting constructive legislation and greater education of public as to needs of industry; Fallacy of "original cost" theory of rate base valuation emphasized, Dec. 4, p. 27 . . CWA President Beirne indicates union will either go out for bigger share of Bell System rate increases or oppose them before commissions; Suggests failure of polls in indicating Nov. 2 election winner will not eliminate "sampling" polls in business and other fields, Dec. 11, p. 13.
Telephone industry probably will be on two defensive fronts when 81st Congress meets, as result of National Grange's resolution to put REA in rural telephone financing and CWA's effort to remove wage-hour exemption for operators in exchanges of 500 stations or less, Dec. 18, p. 13 . . . Fresh fruit and vegetable wholesalers to voice opposition to federal excise tax on long distance telephone service; Two other industries may join opposition to tax; NRECA requests that REA be authorized to finance rural telephone facilities, Dec. 25, p. 13.
